Pashur did not like God's message so he beat Jeremiah and then put him in the stocks. Colour in Jeremiah.

During the night Jeremiah prayed and talked to God. He was upset because every day people laughed at him. But he trusted God and said,

Sing unto the Lord;
Praise ye the Lord.

Next morning Jeremiah told Pashur that God had given him a new name meaning he would be a terror to everyone. God also said he would die in Babylon.

Despite opposition from people like Pashur, Jeremiah continued to be an obedient, faithful prophet of God. He often prayed to God and was a humble man. He was sad because most of the people of Jerusalem would not listen to God's message. However, Jeremiah trusted God and knew that one day God would send a Saviour for all those who had repented of their sins.
